Happy New Year!

Broadway Bound Play To Open 2010 Lindsay Civic Arts Season

The Lindsay Civic Arts Winter Season 2010 will begin with a premiere of the play YOURS, ISABEL written by Christy Hall and performed by Christy and her husband Matt Lutz. The performance will be at 7:30 PM on Saturday, January 16, 2010 at the United Methodist Church in Lindsay.

YOURS, ISABEL is the beautiful true story of the burgeoning love between a young man off to war in the early 1940s, and the feisty, independent-minded young woman he left back home. The play will be performed in Washington in spring 2010 and again in New York City in the fall 2010. Christy and Matt performed the play LAST TRAIN to NIBROC in Lindsay in April 2008 with wonderful reviews from the audience.

Tickets will be sold at Standridge Travel Agency Wednesday, January 5 – Friday, January 8, 2010 from 10 AM to 1 PM. Tickets are $10.00 for advance purchase and $12.00 at the door. Children and students are free.

The Greg Tivis Trio will perform again in Lindsay at a Winter Wonderland dinner theater venue on Saturday evening, February 20, 2010 at the REC building in Lindsay. Time and ticket information will be published in mid January.

In March the Lindsay Civic Arts Association will sponsor a performance of Hansel and Gretel by the Cimarron Circuit Company for the Lindsay Public Schools. In April the Big Band will return to Lindsay on April 10th.

Please call Fredda Bayless, 756-9455, Cindy Standridge, or Isabel Alexander for more information.

A huge snow storm hit Lindsay and the state of Oklahoma Christmas Eve. The storm started with rain and sleet and turned into a white out at one point. Several areas reported up to a foot of snow with drifts from 3 to 4 foot. Shown above are pictures of the snow. The area is still cleaning up after the record snowfall. (Photos by Sheryl Kochert).

BLIZZARDS

The wind howled. The snow swirled and swept horizontally, causing a true white out. The temperature dropped to alarming lows. Snow drifts closed streets and highways. Television weather reports went to constant coverage for many hours. Emergency shelters were crowded with stranded travelers. Emergency responders were inundated with requests for assistance. Streets were closed first, followed by highways, the interstate highways, and, finally, the turnpikes. The Great Blizzard of 2009 left its mark on the record books for Oklahoma winter storms.

All of my life, I have been a weather watcher. I can recall some of the terrifying dust storms of the late 1930s. I have sat for hours in storm cellars as the rain lashed down on the tin cellar door and the wind shook the door and tugged at the rope that my father held in his struggle to hold the door shut as the hail pelted down. I have watched snow pile up around our farm house, closing roads even to horse-drawn wagons. But I cannot recall a storm as severe as the one that struck parts of Oklahoma last week.

It all started so suddenly. I had spent Wednesday night in Norman for an eye appointment in Edmond on Thursday morning. My wife and I left Norman at 6:15 a.m. for the drive to Edmond. A light rain was falling, whipped along by fierce winds. The temperature was above freezing. After about five miles, the rain increased, and the temperature began falling fast. After only two miles on I-35, I sensed that I should not continue. We stopped for a breakfast at an IHOP. By the time we finished breakfast, the wind had increased to 50 mph, and the rain was coming down harder.

We stopped at Sooner Mall for a short shopping errand. When we came out, ice covered the car, and the ground was icing fast. As we drove the few miles back to my son's house, the streets were becoming dangerous. Heavy snow began to fall, driven horizontally by the wind that was now gusting to 60 mph. That was just the beginning. When we got inside, we turned to KWTU, where we would watch the storm reports for the next two days.

As I sat in the warm house and drank hot coffee, I remembered other storms I had seen. I recall one snow storm during World War II when we lived on the Victoria farm north of Bradley. The snow drifted high, closing country roads and canceling school for several days when the buses could not get through. Collie and I sat beside our wood heater as my father and brothers bundled up to go out to feed the animals. When Collie and I ventured outside for a few minutes, he would be totally covered with the snow that stuck to his long hair. When he would shake the snow off, I thought it looked like a small snow storm. He would then sit close to the glowing wood stove, the steam rising from his fur.

In 1945, my parents ran a small store and service station in Lindsay where Jake's Short Stop now stands. Early that year, a huge snow storm dumped several inches of wet snow. Even though the snow was beautiful, it did severe damage. Several broomcorn warehouses that stood along the railroad tracks east of the depot were crushed by the weight of the snow. Some of the buildings were tin Quonset structures. The heavy snow caved the middle of them in, leaving the ends still standing. They resembled large tin cans that some boy had stomped down in the middle to make huge tin can walkers. At least one of the buildings was made of concrete blocks and bricks. That spring, men worked for many days cleaning the blocks and bricks so they could be used again.

I remember a fierce blizzard in Korea when we were at a mountain camp near Uijongbu. We called those storms the "Siberian Express." The heavy snow was carried on a strong north wind. Drifts closed all routes of traffic. We were called to clear the roads with our bulldozers. I had a D-8 Caterpillar with a blade that could be slanted, making it an excellent snow plow. Army regulations did not permit cabs or even side curtains to funnel the warm air back toward the operator. We put on as many clothes as we could and still be able to run the dozer. We would tie the flaps of our pile caps under our chins and tie our fur-lined parka hoods over our heads with only our eyes showing. We learned to unzip our parkas, lean over the exhaust, and let the hot exhaust blow our parkas full of hot air. Then we would zip our parkas and begin plowing snow again. When we got so cold we could not stand it any longer, we would repeat the process.

For as long as I can remember, I have been terrified of cold weather. Heat does not bother me, but cold shuts me down. In cold weather, I want to do what I did during the latest blizzard- sit in a warm house, look at the storm outside, and drink hot coffee.

THANK YOU

We cannot thank each person enough who came in the ice and snow to help prepare, serve, and deliver meals. We are truly appreciative and grateful. We know the Lord has a special blessing for you.

We want to give thanks to all those who donated money, the turkeys from KBLP, and the pecan pies from KBLP's Bible Trivia. Also, for the turkeys paid for and left at Goodners for us. It is you the people of this community that makes this possible.

If I named people I would surely miss someone's name. We are truly grateful to each person and organization that helps us.

To the Calvary Baptist Church that has been there with us for 24 years. We appreciate them so much and we know God has a special blessing in store for them.

To all our children, grandchildren, nieces, and nephews and their spouses. We love you and appreciate all you do.

Most of all we want to give God the glory for all that's done. It's because of Him that we do this.

God's Blessing on Everyone Throughout the New Year.

Lindsay AARP Meets

The Lindsay Oklahoma AARP Chapter #2755 met December 21, 2009 at the Senior Citizens Nutrition Center at 310 W Choctaw at 3 p.m.

The meeting was called to order by president Carolyn Hutto. The invocation was given by Gene Jones and the flag salute was led by Isabel Alexander.

Members present were B.J. Franklin, Donna Hardin, Jerry Jones, Gene Jones, Isabel Alexander, Mary Mae Owens, Bob Hutto, and Carolyn Hutto. Two guests were present: Susan Coldwater and Dorothy Bailey.

The program was presented by Susan Coldwater with Delta Public Transit. Susan spoke to the group regarding the "Seniors Ride Free" program. Due to lack of contributions the only free rides will be round trip fares to the Lindsay Senior Nutrition Center for lunch. If by chance donations come in to meet the needed revenue, the situation could change. Anyone wanting to contribute to the fund can contact Susan or any member of AARP.

Donna Hardin gave the treasurer's report. Isabel Alexander gave the legislative report.

The following officers were selected for 2010-2011 years: president, Donna Hardin, vice-president Gene Jones, treasurer-Carolyn Hutto, and secretary-Mary Robertson.

Gifts for the residents at the Southern Oklahoma Resource Center in Pauls Valley were brought by members and were taken to Pauls Valley Tuesday.

After the meeting concluded the members enjoyed Christmas refreshments and played "Dirty Santa".

The next meeting will be January 18, 2010 at the Senior Citizens Nutrition Center at 310 W. Choctaw at 3 p.m.

"Seniors Ride Free" Program Cuts Back On Free Rides

Due to lack of donations for AARP's "Seniors Ride Free" program this year, Delta Public Transit regrets to announce, as of January 1, 2010, the only free rides will be roundtrip fares to the Lindsay Senior Nutritional Site for lunch Monday through Friday.

All other trips (such as medical, shopping, social, etc.) will be charged a fare of $1 per stop for seniors (60 years and older) within the Lindsay City limits.

Delta Public Transit is in hopes that the "Senior Ride

Free" program can continue in the future.

They appreciate the community's support and patronage in the past. Delta Public Transit realizes the economic slump has affected everyone.

To adopt a senior, make a donation, or buy passes for an individual please contact Susan Coldwater, Delta Public Transit at 405-756-1100 or 866-842-8287.

Delta Public Transit operates under Delta Community Action Fnd., Inc. a non-profit organization.

THANK YOU

There are no words to express our thanks and gratitude to the wonderful town of Lindsay for the generous outpouring of food, money, toys, and prayers during our Food Baskets and Joy Store this year. The need was the largest yet with 151 food baskets and right at 200 children who needed help this Christmas season. The committee was unsure this tremendous need could be met at first, but soon the need was being met. To all of the many donors who made this possible THANK YOU, as we never could have done this without you!! We had a need for 151 jars of peanut butter and a check was received for just that. We had requests for 40 jackets this year and thankfully were also able to meet that need. Oh, and let's not forget Black Friday we were able to purchase bicycles because of some very special people. This year has been a tough one for so many families yet the town of Lindsay saw to it that many families would not go without Christmas this year, what a wonderful community we live in! A big thank you to the many people (you know who you are) that spent hours and hours putting together food baskets, sorting toys, shopping, making deliveries, and helping with the pickup day we could not have done this without you. We have been able to touch many lives and hear some of the saddest stories of families truly in need; we have so much to be thankful for!!

Thank you seems like such a small phrase for all that has been given this year. No matter how small or how large your gift was this year, we made a difference together!!

Turn off the highway and let's go down the Wallville Road. Well, well, the year 2009 was not giving up without a fight and gave us something to talk about for years to come. But, we'll get to that. Early in the year the burn ban was constantly in the news when a rash of fires would break out. Spots of rain would help us breath easier, then the first ten days of May was a Earth quenching days of rain and was much appreciated. Much new home building went on in our area. The Jason Brown family moved into their new home on Hughes Hill. The moments to remember industry has been in contact with the contractors of Sierra-Rae Homes with the hope of bringing new homes and industry to our spot of the world. The Mayor of Wallville and other followers stirred up a flap over the changes in area addresses, the county won and we marched on. On a sad note pages of our history were closed at the loss of Miss Corky Ford, Jack Mantooth, Maurine Miller, Alvin Norton, Kay Bray, Elfreda Beck, David Cheshier, Edward Hearon, Leah Work, Bertie Mayhan, Benny Wells, Fern Wyatt, and Beatrice Davis. On a brighter note the Hughes alumni get-together in June was one of the best ever with approx. 140 or more. The Hughes and Wallville churches which won much praise in the year from Indian princess Jennifer Kay dismissed service January 28 due to ice storm 09. The annual Driskell Reunion was held in April with Brother Phillip Bernard night speaker with well over 100 in attendance each night. What else can we recall of 09, oh yeah the wild White Christmas which literally blew in December 24. All over Oklahoma and down the Wallville Road.

Special note to Roger, Sarah, Veleeta in the shadows of the Red Bluff, call me at 207-3268. I've lost your phone number and Leon and Barbara.

It's January birthday time, Jan 1-6. Seth Oliver on January 3, Diane Estes big day is the 4. Kyle Work celebrates on the 5. Wallvilleites Amy Butcher and Rachel Caldwell celebrate big time on the 6. As the world turns.

With the Wallville parking lot under heavy ice, services dismissed. Pastor Hunt and his sidekick Bill Donaho attended the service in Lindsay at the New Hope Holiness Church with Brother Carl Pelfrey pastor. Brother Tim Hunt of Boyd, TX was on hand to handle preaching duties. His wife Hannah and their million dollar baby Kyle Jay were also in attendance.

Direct from the pages of old Al's Almanac, where we ask and answer the age old question where was Noah when the lights went out. In the dark obviously.

April 14, 2009, our resident hummingbird spotter, Miss Helen Hearon, Hughesville reported seeing the first of the season. Keep your eye out mam, will be waiting for your call.

December 18 Cindy Hunt visited Charlene Hampton, Wallville pioneer in her new abode at the Lindsay Care Center.

The Hughes Baptist and Wallville Holiness dismissed a weekend of services due to the ice and snow of Blizzard 2009.

The Bruce Mayhan clan with wife Priscilla, son Tyler, and family and Zac celebrated a Christmas get-together in Bruce and Pricilla's placial estates. Enjoying it immensely.

The Stanley Hunt crew enjoyed a Christmas get-together in the Juanita Hunt castle last week with Johnny, Jeff, and Josh families all on hand.

The Wallville Veteran's Committee salutes all our on duty servicemen and women who were away from home over the holidays. I've been there, you are in my thoughts.

happy and prosperous New Year. A change you can believe in.

Galia Spencer reports-having a rough time getting in and out due to the weather. Her brother, Charles Powers is doing well in the Norman Veteran's Center, and family Leon and Juanita Powers down by Happy Hollow are doing well. Gaila says she has been out shoveling her driveway as rumors of more snow are forecasted.

To all the fans of I.B. Hunt, this has been his year. 9 years old July 19. He has joined the Cub Scouts, went fishing and done well, took up horseback riding, and recently went hunting with his cousins, loving every minute of it.

Buried in snow and ice and this isn't even January yet probably will be when you read this. Keep the home fires burning and remember this is be kind to "Richard Brownen" week, getting broke in as school superintendent with a rare Oklahoma winter.

Thanks to Charity Hunt Charities Inc. and Mr. Mike Hines's driving school, learn to drive the Mike Hines way. Our sponsors for the week of December 31 to January 6.

To all our readers, friend and foe alike. Have a safe and Happy New Year. Make it the year you find Jesus.

Now, the closing days of 2009 brought a once in a lifetime event for residents of Oklahoma and Wallville-Hughes. Some called it a White Christmas and that it was. But, it was brought about by the blizzard of 09. It was the evening of December 24 when the doors of the North Pole was swung open wide and a massive Winter storm came to town. High winds with great flurries of snow, temperatures dropped as the bottom fell out. The Wallville business district would be shut down, the Wallville and Hughes churces dismissed services with parking lots buried in ice and snow. On the home front Aaron Hunt working for Wal-Mart, P.V. in what was usual a 10 minute drive took an hour to get home. My brother-in-law coming in from Ohio found traffic on Turner Turnpike backed up from Tulsa to OKC. He reported at one time it took him five and a half hours to go three miles. When he finally got out of that mess on a sideroad he slid off in a ditch. After contacting a tow truck service, they said they had 200 cars ahead of him. This was Thursday, December 24, Sunday afternoon the 26 Wallville resident Laura Somers said that they had just got the roads cleared. Bye-Bye 09 you made your legacy in the history books and will be remembered for years to come, down the Wallville Road.
